Ah the internet, access to a world's worth of knowledge at our fingertips, but also a worlds worth of ignorance and fear. In my first look at "church things" this week I want to look at All Hallows Eve, All Saints Day and All Souls Day together these days make up All Hallow-tide. We need to understand why they are important and meaningful days to be celebrated by Christians and the church as a whole.

Let's begin with All Hallows Eve or Halloween. This night was the night to kick off the season often accompanied by the ringing of European church bells. All Hallowtide is a three-day celebration of those Christians who have gone on before us, those on who's shoulders we stand. According to the Anglican Compass the 3 days bounced around the calendar eventually landing upon the same day as the Celtic pagan harvest festival of Samhain. The masks, lanterns, and bonfires were used to ward off evil spirits. In other words, just like Christ is the light that drives out darkness so are these images with the masks being like the armor of God. In the same way the Christmas tree and Easter bunny have been taken and repurposed so has Halloween's fun.

All Saints Day or the Day of the Dead is a day meant to honor those loved ones who have gone on, a day of remembrance to keep their memory alive. As we do not believe in purgatory, this is simply a day to give thanks for our loved ones and pray for the day of great reunion in the New Heaven and New Earth.

All Souls Day is the day we honor the saints of the past who have gone on. People who may not have been in our family but who have impacted our lives. It's also a day to remember those who have passed without family a day to keep their memory alive as well. Once again praying for the day of reunion.

Education is the great dispeller of ignorance. Jesus told us it is not what we put in our body that defiles but what comes out. The Psalmist reminds us that every day is the day the Lord has made let us rejoice and be glad in it. Don't let fear cloud your judgment and don't allow the opportunity for fellowship and prayer pass you by because you've given power and authority to the principalities of this world that they don't deserve.

Have a Fantastic week!

Soli Deo Gloria

Pastor Drew
